Corp. Fell Escapes Serious Injury in

Miss Evans Engaged to Appear in

The chariot race is coming to be the real thriller at the spectacle performances of the Greek pageant drama, "The Fire Regained," which is being presented each evening this week in the open-air amphitheater, 16th and V streets northwest, for the benefit of local charities. Again yesterday afternoon there was an accident which came close to being serious.

Corporal Jack Fell of the artillery at stallions, was thrown heavily when the performance and dragged for som

Mrs. Jerome Lightfoot, who drives the white charlot, which must win the race or the guilt of the vestal virgin is proved, was given an ovation last night by the throng of more than 4,000 who attended the performance when she again took her place in the chariot race, after having been nearly trampled by the high-strung black stallions the night before.

Miss Helen Evans, who appears as the Goddess Pallas Athen, was also accorded enthusiastic greeting last night, after it had been learned that she has been selected to enact the star role in the performance of "The Fire Regained." when it is given at the Panama-Pacific exposition next year. She has been engaged for the role on the recommendation of several theatrical producers who have witnessed the performances here.

The esthetic dances of the wood nymphs, fire attendants, priestesses and others, under the leadership of Miss Effie M. Baker, with Miss Mildred Anderson as soloist, are a revelation to many in the audiences and are among the pretitest features of the spectacle.

Among Miss Baker's dancers are: the performance when she again took her

At the request of many school teachers, Chairman Isaac Gans announced that sections of seats would be set aside tonight and tomorrow night for school children. The admission price will be 55 cents for the children and 50 cents for the teachers or other adults accompanying them. Chairman Gans added that while it was the desire of the committee to realize as much as possible for charity through this production of "The Fire in the last third of his round, but he had already handicapped himself too heavily. MacFariane had virtually won at the turn, where he had obtained a commanding lead of 5 up, with a wonderful card of 81 for the nine holes. His play was uncannily perfect.

Evans was laid half stymic on the ninth and was twice bunkered on the homeward journey. Except for occasional hooked drives he played good enough golf, but few players could have lived against the machinelike precision of MacFarlane, who drove well, kept a good line and sent down ten, fifteen and twenty yard putts without apparent effort.
